Chamber

by Post Company

The Chamber side table is one of a series of pieces originally designed by Post Company for Inness, a Hudson Valley country resort by tastemaker Taavo Somer that takes all of its cues from the surrounding landscape. Stable and understated, Chamber is grounded in the foundational concepts of simplicity, utility, and clarity of construction.

Post Company is a design studio operating across hospitality, retail and residential programs. The company creates environments that are grounded in rich narration and guided by collaborative research, contextual appreciation, and informed perspective. They believe that considered design creates space for discourse, human connection, and cultural growth.

Founded by Ruben Caldwell, Jou-Yie Chou, and Leigh Salem, the team is a collection of architects, interior designers, carpenters, art directors, and creatives working across disciplines. Their work is a composite of many voices both within and outside of the studio – Post Company believes that this collective expression is greater than that of the individual and that great design should be universally applicable and broadly accessible. As such, Post Company is always pushing to expand the reach of design beyond concepts of luxury and exclusivity.

Chapter

by Post Company

The Chapter table is one of a series of pieces originally designed by Post Company for Inness, a Hudson Valley country resort by tastemaker Taavo Somer that takes all of its cues from the surrounding landscape. Intentionally heavy visually and physically with joinery that is pronounced but not fussy or ornate, Chapter was designed to provide for gathering and connection.

Cross Bar

by Campagna

Refined and minimal, this round dining table has thickened, turned legs with a subtle, organic profile. The edge detail on the top is molded to the shape of the human hand and soft to the touch. Complex, yet elegant wooden joinery gives this table a sense of craft and lightness. Campagna worked closely with Bowen Liu Studio in refining the joinery for Cross Bar Table. The final form owes much to the collaboration.

Grange

by Post Company

The Grange bench is one of a series of pieces originally designed by Post Company for Inness, a Hudson Valley country resort by tastemaker Taavo Somer that takes all of its cues from the surrounding landscape. The orthogonal passing planes and oversized members of Grange are an ode to a simple method of building, humble and grounded.

Jason Miller is a Brooklyn-based designer and the founder of Roll & Hill. Born in New York and raised in Darien, Connecticut, Jason's suburban upbringing heavily influenced his early, more conceptual pieces — duct-taped chairs and cracked vases, among them — and continues to inform the elegant, historically rich work that has become his signature. Jason received an MFA in painting and spent time in both the art and advertising worlds, but soon realized he preferred making things to documenting them. His designs — like a mirror whose photographic surface recalls a painted landscape — still often reflect those early preoccupations, but each is a functional object, with a kind of beauty and wit. Today, Jason runs both Jason Miller Studio and Roll & Hill from his headquarters in Downtown Manhattan.

Lexington

by Jason Miller

The Lexington series stems from Jason Miller's interest in American furniture combined with his fascination of Gothic architecture. Inspired by the surprisingly rational structure underlying Gothic buildings when stripped of their ornamental facades, Miller applied that framework to a series of furniture with a distinctly American feel.

Orbit

by Jamie Gray

Orbit is the outcome of Jamie Gray's abiding interest in 20th-century French modernism, a distillation of a period in design interpreted from a contemporary perspective. By refining the ideas of this place and time in history, Gray arrived at the elliptical leg motif that is carried throughout the collection.

Jamie Gray is a designer, curator, and the founder of New York design gallery Matter. Based in New York since 1998 and born in Los Angeles, California, his work is influenced by both the warm modernism of the west coast and the elegance of the east.

Gray graduated from Pratt Institute in 2001 with a degree in sculpture. His studio practice looks to both form and function as integral and equal parts of a larger narrative in design. He lives in Upstate NY with his wife and three children.

The Lair

by Jenna Lyons

Taking its cue from the traditional club chair, The Lair has a squared-off and simplified silhouette that makes it seem muscular and delicate. Tucked into its side is a small brass tray that folds out for your glass, your sharpie, or journal.

The Lion

by Jenna Lyons

The stately silhouette of The Lion is reminiscent of a traditional Louis XIV dining chair and modernized through clean lines and pared-down details. Its thronelike stature is sculpted with an upright frame, while its delicate legs and natural leather upholstery add a hint of glamour.

Three Plane

by Campagna

The Three Plane Chair is composed of simple forms combined in a thoughtful way to support the human form. The intersection of three planes – circle, rectangle, and irregular quadrilateral, meet to create a minimal occasional chair with rigid geometry and humanistic details.

Campagna is the studio of furniture maker and designer Cody Campanie. Born in 1986 in rural New York State, Cody studied architecture at Brown University and cabinet making at Seattle's Wood Technology Center. He aims to make well crafted objects and spaces that question the norms of embodied rituals and recall that built form stores cultural memory.

About

Roll & Hill is a design-minded American furniture and lighting company based in New York. We collaborate with some of the most exciting independent designers working today to create our exceptional collection. Jason Miller founded Roll & Hill in 2010 with a primary mission to establish a homegrown, American design aesthetic and offer independent designers the state-of-the-art manufacturing services typically associated with larger makers.

Roll & Hill is committed to on-demand production, allowing us to customize our pieces to our clients' needs. At our manufacturing facilities in Grand Rapids, Michigan, we make our furniture and lighting by hand, one piece at a time. Our designs draw from a rich material palette, including brass, bronze, leather, wood, hand-knotted rope, and mouth-blown glass. Our designers often pair historical elements with contemporary forms to create objects that feel familiar, yet totally new.
